Peace Negotiations Continue

French Planes Hit Algerian Artillery

ALGIERS (AP) — Rocket-firing French planes today strafed Algerian rebel artillery firing at French positions along the Tunisian-Algerian frontier for the third straight day.

French and Algerian nationalist delegates met for their third session of peace talks in the French resort of Evian outwardly unmoved by the flareup of shooting in eastern Algeria.

One informant said the talks were making slow but steady progress toward a full agreement, including a cease-fire, to put Algeria on the road to independence.

A French communique minimized the rebel artillery bombardment and said it was a harassment and not an attack. It added that the artillery duel had not affected movement of some French troops from the frontier region toward the cities in the west.

The French said one French plane in difficulty over the frontier was abandoned by its pilot. Army sources said the plane was a U.S.-built Skyraider fighter.

The communique said the Algerian bombardment had killed two French soldiers and wounded 13, and killed eight Moslem civilians and wounded more than 30. French patrols scouting ahead of the French lines found the bodies of 10 rebel soldiers and two rebel wounded, the communique said.

Both groups at Evian refused

Interstate Road Billboards Are Being Removed

Highway Official Says 200 Will Be Down By April 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Workers started removing illegal billboards along Ohio's interstate highways today and officials expect to have 200 down by the end of the month.

Assistant Highway Director G. A. Berry said removal work started in Division 7, with headquarters in Sidney, and would extend into Division 1, with headquarters in Lima, and Division 2, with headquarters in Bowling Green.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle released Berry's report at the weekly cabinet meeting.

The report said 48 signs were moved voluntarily after the highway department sent out 263 courtesy notices. The notices advised property owners of the ban on billboards about 600 feet from most of the 1,500 miles of interstate highways in Ohio.

A total of 182 final notices have gone out, Berry said, warning that billboards will be removed at the expense of property owners.

Ohio is eligible for a bonus in federal highway money for enforcing the billboard ban. Berry said the bonus total has yet to be determined.

Although anti-billboard regulations were adopted last year, court actions prevented effective attempts to enforce the ban until this year. But Berry said new injunction suits have been filed in Allen and Wood counties. He said effect of the suits was limited to those counties.

DiSalle released a report on the cost of highway snow removal as related to benefits received by motorists.

"Ohio's bare roads policy is a sound method of winter maintenance," the report said.

"Costs for the rural state system were estimated at approximately $7.7 million and estimates of only a part of the benefits amounted to only $7.5 million," the report added.

Researchers said snow covered roads cost motorists about $414,000 a day in salaries and other losses. They said that total indicated that 18 days of snow-covered roads would have cost motorists about the same total as was expended to keep the roads clear.

Murder Trial Jury Venire Drops to 47

LISBON—A special venire of 75 persons summoned for a first-degree murder trial scheduled to begin Monday has dwindled to 47, Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw said Thursday.

Prospective jurors have been excused because of illness and other emergencies.

The indictment is against William P. Boyd Jr., 22, of East Liverpool, and is the county's first first degree murder charge since 1957.

Boyd is charged with slaying his estranged wife, Nancy Lee, 18, last Nov. 5 on a Beaver Creek hillside east of Calcutta. Authorities found her body Nov. 15 after an anonymous phone call from a hunter.

She had been beaten with a tire iron and shot in the head with a shotgun. In a confession made to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan, Boyd said he quarreled with his wife over her conduct with other men.

Boyd will be represented by Atty. Robert Kapp and Ben Bertram, both of East Liverpool. They were appointed by the court.

Selection of a jury is expected to take all day. Judge Raymond S. Buzzard will preside.

Coastal Areas Start Mop-Up

Storm Torn State May Be Given Federal Aid

By The Associated Press

Residents and authorities of the six-state area battered by the big storm, bolstered by prospects of massive federal aid, have begun mopping up operations after a three-day rampage of wind and water.

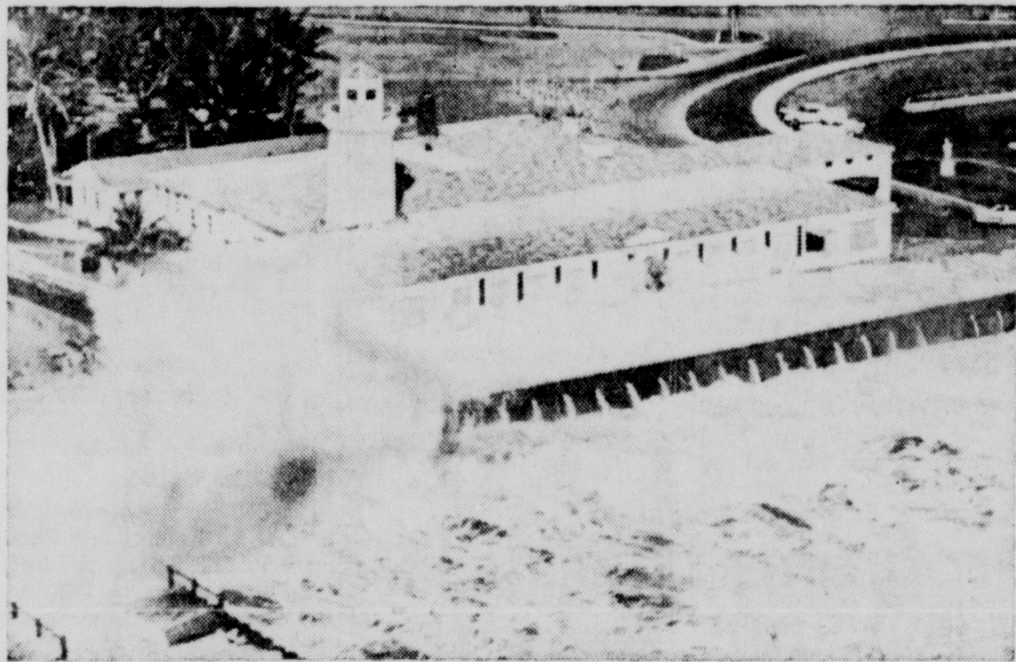

The death toll stood at least at 36, with a number of persons missing. Property damages have been estimated at well over $165 million.

The coastal sections of New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina have been declared disaster zones by the Small Business Administration, which grants special, long term loans to property owners.

Outright federal grants must come by proclamation of President Kennedy.

These grants would go to state and local governmental units for the repair of roads, bridges, schools and other facilities.

The governors of New Jersey,

Additional federal aid was announced Thursday by the Department of Agriculture, which said emergency food supplies were being distributed to storm victims through state and local agencies.

More Devastating Than Hurricane

Florida Coast Hit By Gigantic Waves

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Unseasonably high tides, from an intense Atlantic Ocean storm, pounded a 130-mile stretch of Florida's tourist beaches yesterday.

Waves estimated at 25 feet high crashed over seawalls and breakwaters, knocking down cabanas and small buildings, damaging larger structures and carrying away the wreckage to the sea.

Heavy wave action was reported from Fort Pierce to Key Biscayne. Damage was confined to exposed areas.

Deerfield, north of Pompano Beach, apparently was hardest hit, losing its beach and 21st Avenue. Officials said the wave action was more devastating than during Hurricane Donna in 1960.

The Palm Beach area received a severe lashing by the rough seas. Debris was swept inland on some streets not far from the oceanfront estate of Joseph P. Kennedy, father of President Kennedy. The Kennedy home has a breakwater for protection.

None of the hotels or motels was evacuated, but beaches and oceanfront swimming pools were closed as towering waves washed over them.

On Collins Avenue, Miami Beach's main thoroughfare, seawater surged through the street, scores of ground floor and basement stores and other buildings.

Hotels the length of the tourist coast reported damage ranging from light to moderate.

Law Would Have Added Three Seats

Ammendment Halts Passage of Once Popular Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proving that some of the best-laid political plans can come a cropper, the House has killed a bill to increase its membership from 435 to 438.

A voice vote returning the measure to a committee pigeon-hole Thursday climaxed one of the most hectic and confused House sessions in years.

The bill would have given Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Missouri one more House seat than they will be entitled to under 1960 census figures.

The measure suddenly lost so much of its carefully arranged support that backers couldn't even muster the 80 votes needed for a rollcall.

Just before the final action, its one-time champion, Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, disavowed his support because of an amendment that would have forced the calling of special sessions of the legislatures in the three states to redistrict their congressional seats. Failure to call such a session or to enact redistricting laws would have required all House candidates from the three states to run on a state-wide basis.

The amendment was offered by the bill's author and floor manager, Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., and it caught friends and foes by surprise although it had been discussed in previous committee sessions.

Walter, who said that the bill was dead as far as he was concerned, told reporters he offered the amendment because he made a commitment to Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

The commitment, which Halleck acknowledged, was that a new redistricting law in Pennsylvania would salvage the seat of veteran Ivor D. Fenton, Repub-

12 Killed In U.S. Transport Crash

ALENCON, France (AP) — Wreckage of a U.S. Air Force transport, missing with 12 crewmen, was found today in heavy woods near Alencon. French police reported from the site there were no survivors.

The four-engine plane disappeared Thursday.

There was no indication what had caused the plane to crash.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman said names of the dead would not be announced until next of kin were informed.

The transport, at its last report, said it was in the vicinity of Alencon, which is 60 miles southwest of the plane's base at Evreux. The aircraft was on a routine training mission with five officers and seven enlisted men aboard.

The plane and crew were from the 322nd Air Division. The planes based at Evreux constitute a transport pool for U.S. operations in Western Europe. They also do much of the shuttling of U.N. troops and supplies to the Congo.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN
Questions and Answers

Q—I am an 18-year-old high school graduate with diabetes. I was just turned down for a secretarial job, for which I am qualified, because of my illness. My mother advises me not to mention it next time I fill out an application for employment. Do you think that necessary?

A—Your experience cannot be unique, as a recent survey by the New York Diabetes Assn. indicates that 44 per cent of diabetics conceal their illness, presumably because some 53.2 per cent reported that their condition caused them to be refused employment at least once.

This is a serious reflection on hiring practices that the association plans to attack without delay.

In the meanwhile, I would suggest that you obtain from your doctor a letter stating that your condition is completely controlled and that, in his opinion, you can successfully serve in the capacity for which you seek employment so far as your health is concerned.

If you are then rejected, perhaps you are as well off since the attitude of any organization that follows such hiring practices might be reflected in other unpleasant ways.

Q—Can color blindness be corrected? If so, which vitamins are best to take?

A—Color blindness cannot be corrected. Taking vitamins or seeking any other form of treatment is a waste of money. However, if you are color blind you must be sure to avoid participation in any activity in which color recognition is essential.

For example, driving a motor vehicle where failure to recognize the yellow warning light or the red stop light might end disastrously for yourself and for others. In addition to what injuries you might sustain, you would also be liable to civil and criminal penalties.

Q—My mother has just been told she has scleroderma. I looked it up in a medical book we have in the school library and it says it is a fatal disease. Is this so? And can nothing be done to save her?

A—It is unhappily true that widespread progressive scleroderma is a disease for which we can do very little. But there are disturbances that resemble scleroderma and that pose no threat to life.

For example, the condition called "morphea" is one in which only isolated spots of skin are involved, and these may be nothing more than a nuisance.

Then there is a condition called "sclerodema" in which extremities are spared. If your mother suffers from either morphea or sclerodema, do not despair of her survival but take her to a skin specialist (dermatologist) who may be able to control the condition with drugs that possess ACTH activity (cortical steroids; corticotropins.)

Something Every Farmer Knows

It has crossed many minds in the last few days that Nikita Khrushchev and his Kremlin huddling in a special meeting in Moscow may really be talking about the subject they said brought them together—agriculture.

Russian socialists have had impressive success with industrial reform.

Their mechanistic philosophy has been well-adapted to techniques of mass production.

The Soviet Union's industrial strength has boosted it into contention against the United States for world power—an impressive performance for a country still in the pastoral age at the end of World War I.

But neither in socialistic Russia nor in any other country dominated by socialist philosophy has agriculture ever been successful.

THESE COUNTRIES are always short of food. Russia, with half its population on the land, cannot feed either its rural or urban populations satisfactorily. Hunger is the trademark of all nations that have experimented with Marxism.

Premier Khrushchev must have spent half his energy as a public figure on agriculture, yet it continues to be his most serious problem. Without an assured supply of food, all of Russian military preparations are meaningless. Russians could not feed themselves during World War II. They scarcely can feed themselves now in peacetime. The most vital detail of their national preparedness is missing. They don't have enough to eat.

What is wrong about socialism in agriculture?

What makes it fail in food production yet show good results in industrial production? Every farmer knows the answer.

Food production depends on 24-hour-a-day, seven-days-a-week vigilance and personal devotion to duty.

There are no starting and quitting whistles on farms. There is no way to gloss over, remelt, patch up, or wink at a failure in animal husbandry. No farmer ever gets another chance at a crop that failed.

Every piece of slipshod work, every instance of neglect, every fumble-handed operation in agriculture is a net subtraction from the supply of foodstuffs.

THE KIND OF singleminded devotion needed in farming simply is never forth coming from public employees. Good farmers in Russia and everywhere else get to be that way because they have pride in their performance.

They do not put in long hours and give their work their full devotion because they love some bureaucrat and want to make him successful. They do these things to meet their own standard of excellence.

They're interested in making a living too, but even on the "factory farms" now common in the United States the primary motive is to do the job right. If it's done right, money returns will be forthcoming in due time and in fair abundance.

Communization of agriculture in Red China has been a total failure; the Chinese are starving. Russians are hungry. Communist satellites are bled white to provide food and are fixed in the role of the "cows" in ant colonies that exist to furnish food for "workers."

Food production is the great flaw in socialism. No one ever worked beyond the call of duty to make a politician look good—and in agriculture in socialized countries the consequences have been disastrous and always will be.

Far Away World of Adm. Rickover

Every time that gadfly of American education and the U.S. Navy, Hyman G. Rickover, fires another salvo, we feel like cheering because there are so many worth hitting targets.

But there also are times when we feel like returning a salvo because the target-tongued admiral has missed the target because of poor aim.

We are going to give him the benefit of a doubt and call it poor aim in the instance of his latest salvo, fired in a book about the superiority of Swiss schools. We haven't seen the book but it is reported to say that the culprits of what he finds wrong with U.S. schools are chiefly administrators, who are responsible for blocking the aspirations of parents and teachers.

Granted that administrators sometimes block the aspirations of teachers, it simply cannot be granted that they block the aspirations of parents, who are the real culprits of educational shortcomings.

Parents keep administrators on the defensive with their ideas for running schools—ideas that mostly have little to do with education per se and much to do with the vanity and convenience of parents.

They oppose anything in education that shows up the disparity between the most educable and least educable children. It exists, it cannot be done away with, it will be a problem for U.S. educators as long as education for the masses is maintained, but parents are dead set against acknowledging it. When Adm. Rickover makes invidious comparisons with the school systems of other countries he is comparing education for the masses in America with education for the academic elite elsewhere.

His criticism loses validity in the opinion of the only people who really know what he is talking about—educators, administrators and the handful of parents whose offspring would bring joy to Adm. Rickover's heart—the educational elite of the United States.

They're here, but except in a few places they are not set apart and admired the way Adm. Rickover admires them when they're a few thousand miles away.

George Meany Was Astonished

It's useful to be reminded now and then that no one speaks for organized labor—no politician, no union official, not even the former general counsel for the United Steelworkers who now is secretary of labor in the Kennedy Cabinet.

When Secretary Goldberg said a few days ago the federal government would quit being a mediator and a conciliator and become a participant in contract negotiations, as it is in the current negotiations in steel, he was not speaking for organized labor at all. George Meany, president of AFL-CIO, promptly declared Secretary Goldberg was speaking out of turn.

Mr. Meany further said he doubted if federal intervention in the steel industry was proving successful. He doubted if the Steelworkers' former counsel was getting anywhere in steel negotiations or would get anywhere in any negotiations anywhere.

"The government's role is mediation, conciliation, or anything else it can do to help industrial peace," declared Mr. Meany in Bal Harbour, Fla., where the executive council of AFL-CIO had been meeting. "When Mr. Goldberg says the role of the government is to assert the national interest, he is infringing on the rights of free people and free society and I don't agree with him whatsoever. This is a step in the direction of saying the federal government should tell either or both sides in an industrial dispute what to do, and I don't agree with that."

Mr. Meany doesn't speak for organized labor, either. The point is that no one does—no more so than one political party, one business organization, one group of citizens or one citizen can speak for unorganized business.

This is the hardest lesson there is to learn about the United States, and it's made doubly hard by the fact no one really wants to admit it's so—that no one really speaks for anyone but himself in a nation where the people have the sovereign power.

Once Over

Said Uncle Sam, "in global strife I think I should preserve my life"; "How ignoble" came Russia's cry "For such a vicious thing to try!"

"You jumped the gun long months ago."

Said Sam, "with routines extra low"; "How dare you catch up?" Russia said, "Your duty clear is to drop dead."

"You should take meekly second place."

Said Sam, "I hope you don't object"; "How warlike," Moscow's protest flew, "FOR YOU TO ACT AS SOVIETS DO!"

"At least," said Sam with weary glance;

"Get this," said Moscow through lips tight;

"We Russians OWN THAT COPYRIGHT."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There were variations on the theme—low and muted. But what created the crisis in "steel" was the union's steady bid behind those "closed doors" for a shorter work year for its members.

The bargaining table became well laden as the union negotiators heaped it with suggestions for shaving the work year—longer vacations, three-month sabbaticals, extra "holidays."

The bargaining sessions demanded by President Kennedy—28 of them—grew longer and ran into the Pittsburgh nights, the steel industry's bargaining team stood pat. The stakes were bigger than steel. From the time I first learned the difference between an ingot and igloo, it has always been said on this beat that as steel goes so goes the nation.

The steel executives knew—and the union knew—that the rest of United States business was watching anxiously.

AGREEMENT on a shorter work year—in any form which the union wanted to make jobs for the unemployed and prevent lay-offs—would mean that the rest of American industry sooner or later would have to follow. This would develop more swiftly than anything the five-hour day in an isolated electrical industry could unleash.

When the final sessions came there was not bitterness. No one had really quarreled, though there was some disagreement over the cost of the package. The United Steelworkers leadership appeared willing to "reduce the work year in a modest way so cost to the industry would not be impossible."

Whatever differences there were over money—the range being somewhere in the 10 to 11 cent-an-hour increase per package per man—had not been for money's sake alone. It was over principle—and each side knew that the other was caught in a vast national vise.

There were so few personal hard feelings that at nine o'clock or so the night of Friday, March 2, in the hotel corridor right outside the improvised broadcasting room, chief Dave McDonald walked up to the steel industry's Conrad Copper as though leaving an old trench buddy:

"Go," said Dave McDonald, "go get some rest, Coop, we have been working awfully hard."

THEY HAD. But McDonald, regardless of his promise to John Kennedy, had not been able to move towards signing a contract because of pressure from the men in the field.

If McDonald had made a pact swiftly it would have looked like a fix between his union and Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg.

Reports flowed in from the northern steel belt. The men wanted tougher bargaining. They wanted job guarantees.

Sure they had told early pollsters they wanted no strike but now they wanted the work spread. In some areas men were on a part-time week working 32 hours for 32 hours pay, that is.

In other mills, the men were working 60 hours-a-week at time and a half. Word from the long-time unemployed, the temporarily laid-off and the parttime men now was: Wipe out the overtime. Spread the work. Get us back on the job. Even it out.

The union leaders even suggested a contract clause which would have forbidden overtime, except with mutual consent.

The union people kept saying this could be tailored neatly so the costs would not be higher than the money range which had been mentioned. The industry's four-man team rejected this. And not for the money cost alone. The industry was just not going to set such precedents.

There were scores of other issues. Some were as complicated as brewing the glue which now pastes two pieces of steel together more firmly than welding. But the shorter time and overtime issues finally brought the deadlock.

THE UNION picked some time after May 1 for the resumption of talks, because it ran past April 20th—that's the approximate date for the releases of the steel industry's financial statements. These will show profits. Everybody was stockpiling and buying heavily in the first quarter. Naturally this will make the industry seem unduly stubborn.

The White House wants a contract by April 1 to prevent scare buying of steel by customers who begin fearing there will really be a strike next summer. Buying hysteria would create more overtime and leave a lull for the fall. This could really lead to a strike or mass layoffs then.

No one wants a strike. The men don't. The union doesn't. The industry certainly not. Nor does the White House.

Now everybody wants more than pressure from President Kennedy. They want promises. Of course, when they broke off, they privately expected to meet much sooner than May 1. Perhaps with him.

They say the President got them into this one early. They add he is the only one who can get them out of it before it is too late.

There may, after all, be a substitute for crisis bargaining. And this is it. At least it came early.

Commons Riled

By DAVID LAWRENCE

British Lawmakers Criticizing JFK

There's more than meets the eye in the criticism leveled in the British House of Commons at President John F. Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara for allegedly "interfering in Britain's internal affairs."

It seems that both the President and the secretary of defense received Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the opposition party in the British parliament, and gave him the background of current policies on nuclear tests and disarmament.

Mr. Gaitskell later made a statement supporting the President's position, and this caused much criticism of the British leader himself by members of the House of Commons. It came from members of the Conservative party, and there were complaints, too, from Mr. Gaitskell's own party.

The British critics, however, are on the wrong track. If a distinguished visitor like Hugh Gaitskell comes to the United States to learn at first hand what's going on in international affairs, should the president turn a deaf ear and refuse to receive him?

For many decades it has been the custom, if not the rule, in international relations that the head of a government doesn't have any conferences of a formal nature with representatives of an opposition party in the government of a friendly country.

In recent years, however, this has often been ignored. Also, envoys from foreign governments, including British ambassadors, have not hesitated to confer frequently with the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee—even though a Democrat—during the years when the White House happened to be occupied by a Republican president.

Theoretically, the Congress, being a coordinate branch of the government, might be expected to have direct contact with foreign governments, but under the Constitution the conduct of foreign relations is defined as strictly an executive function. Little by little, however, the foreign diplomats in Washington, including British ambassadors, have departed from the old rule.

THE BLAME, therefore, is not to be placed on the President nor the secretary of defense, but on Mr. Gaitskell himself, for he alone made the decision as to whether he would enter into a discussion with American officials on current policies.

It may have been indiscreet for him to do so from a British viewpoint but the President is hardly to be blamed for trying to win support in Great Britain when anyone asks for his views.

It will be recalled that Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Adlai Stevenson, both prominent in the Democratic party, had lengthy interviews with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Moscow while President Eisenhower was in the White House. Also, British opposition party leaders have conferred with the Soviet premier in Moscow from time to time.

It is being hinted in London that Prime Minister MacMillan and Defense Minister Watkinson have been displeased by President Kennedy's action in briefing Mr. Gaitskell.

This, of course, introduces a very different factor—for it is certainly desirable that an American president should not offend the head of any foreign ministry by secret conferences with his political opponent.

It may be that another rule, long since abandoned, may have to be restored. It provides that arrangements for all meetings between distinguished foreigners and American officials should be handled by the foreign embassies in Washington.

If Mr. Gaitskell, for instance, had made his appointment is conceivable that there might have been less objection to it in London.

EVEN SO, the President cannot be expected to sit by and watch the Socialist-Labor opposition in Britain fire away at his international policies without using every means at his command to convince his critics of the correctness of his own policies in world affairs.

Mr. Gaitskell, to be sure, on his return from Washington did brief the other members of the Parliamentary defense committee in Britain on what he learned from President Kennedy and Secretary McNamara. Nothing was withheld from the British government itself.

What really troubles the British government, however, is that the President is represented as being somewhat critical of the MacMillan government in connection with a lack of defense measures being taken on the continent of Europe.

It all boils down to one important point—differences between governments should be ironed out by their respective foreign offices, and only when this form of communication breaks down should controversies be brought into the open.

The risk that the President runs in alienating the MacMillan government is more important for him to take into account than winning friends in an opposition party in Britain.

Everyone Speaks English

By TRUMAN TWILL

30 Bod Everyone speaks english I have been thinking lately about the Esperanto people. I've been thinking about the world calendar people, too.

The world calendar is a lost cause—too many religious obstacles.

But a world language comes closer every week. In my lifetime unbelievable progress has been made. If I could live two lifetimes I would see the job completed.

But the language is turning out to be English, not Esperanto. The Esperanto people get credit for hammering on the theme of a world language, but they failed to realize it would not be something everybody would have to learn from scratch.

It was more logical to take an already established language and get the hang of that one. The language turned out to be English—not the Queen's English, nor the King's English, nor "English as she is spoke" in the United States, but something that might be called "median English."

It's the kind of English that materializes in reasonably good usage wherever English is used, which these days is everywhere. Its universality has been spurred by the United Nations, among other things, also by wide-ranging U.S. tourists and perhaps most of all by the fact that young people abroad who want to make their mark in a shrinking world all know they must get the hang of English. So they do.

Thus we have the singular and significant mastery of English by everybody who comes here from abroad. They speak better English than most of us can speak, because they studied harder.

All over the world English is the first choice of students who want to learn a foreign language. Esperantists never dreamed of such a triumph for their made-up language. The most they ever dared to hope for was a time when people who wanted to communicate could use Esperanto as a common denominator of communication.

Conversion to English as the language of the world has turned into a lingual epidemic, and when it has run its course purists may not be able to recognize it. One thing is obvious.

The tendency will be to get rid of language sucker traps.

In this respect, the basic principle of Esperanto will be honored. A word will be a word, will be a word, will be a word—no matter what changes may come out of the context in which it is used. All verbs will be regularized—no more irregular monstrosities. All spelling will be rationalized.

Hair-splitters will be given short shrift.

Whether purists and fuddyduddies like it or not, the universal use of English as the means of communication between all strangers will keep the language strong by forcing it to be simple.

The result eventually will be something as useful in a practical sense as Esperanto seemed to be in a theoretical sense. The Esperantists had a sound idea, but they underestimated English.

There isn't a place on earth today where it isn't understood and few places where it won't be used fluently tomorrow. Even the Russians study English.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the wife who counted her husband's handkerchiefs to check on his fidelity brought back some memories.

The counting system didn't work for me because my smart guy used paper tissue to remove the lipstick. It was his shirts that finally did him in. I discovered one day that he was not returning at night in the same shirt he had worn in the morning.

When the facts were uncovered and his dirty laundry was hung out to dry, I found that half of his wardrobe was in a one-room apartment downtown—hanging with black lace lingerie.

"Heaven's Gift to Woman" now has a fourth wife who is counting his handkerchiefs and I am supporting his three kids.

Had I known that the child-support laws in this country were so archaic and utterly useless I would have washed and ironed without counting. It would have been much easier to keep my trap shut, and live in the hope that one day some babe's husband would put a hole in his head.—COUNT DOWN.

A Straight Answer

Dear Ann: My wife and I are faced with a serious problem.

We have a 4-year-old daughter who is bright and sensitive. My wife and I were thrilled at the news that another baby was on the way. We told Cindy that God was sending her a new baby sister or brother in January. She was very pleased and talked of little else for weeks.

Our little son was born with a damaged heart and lived only 10 days. Cindy cannot understand why God sent her a baby brother and then took him away.

We don't know how to handle the problem. Shall we stop talking about the little brother and pretend he never existed? Would this be easier on Cindy?

Please give us some advice. We need it desperately.—T AND C.

Dear T and C: It would be wise to stop talking about the little brother, but to pretend that he didn't exist would be unrealistic and harmful. The youngster would soon sense that your story was a clumsy masking of the truth and then you'd have far more serious trouble. It would shake her confidence in your integrity and she might become fearful and insecure.

Children know that animals and flowers die. Use animals and flowers as examples when explaining the mysteries of death. And be sure to give Cindy the comforting thought that all things happen for the best and that God always makes the right decision.

Confidentially

TO GOOSEFLESH: Wake up, Little Dreamer. Fantasy may be fun but you can't live in a world of make-believe—and believe me, Lollypop, that's what your world is.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Just Conclusions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions:

The most exciting and glamorous thing about war is that it tends to make the individual feel more important than he does in peace. He is swept by a thrilling feeling of mutual effort and exultant unity.

The greatest trouble with peace is that it blows so few bugles inside the average man. It doesn't stir him, as war does, to a realization that the welfare of the group he belongs to is directly dependent on the quality of his own individual performance.

He who can give to all men in peacetime a feeling of shared emotional glory and joy in human service will do mankind its greatest possible service.

In most parts of America, nothing excites more suspicion than a stranger with a wallet full of $2 bills.

Why do people still believe that a medicine has to taste bad if it is to do them any real good? My theory is that most patients unconsciously feel guilty over being sick, and crave a bad-tasting medicine as a kind of punishment for not being well. Swallowing it helps them atone for the crime of having fallen ill.

A caged lion in time becomes grateful for the bars that fence him in. After all, they protect him from the wildness of tame people.

When surrounded by beauty, we tend to become dulled by it—as with a surfeit of any kind. How often does a dairy farmer pause to admire a sunrise?

A bank teller, who spends his life counting out money to other people, has to become one of two things—a philosopher, or a thief.

On the night of the big spring prom, a high school girl would rather have appendicitis than a pimple on her nose.

A boy suffering from a heavy cold makes the best magazine subscription salesman. Everybody hates to turn down a kid with a runny nose.

You can tell when a man has had one too many at a cocktail party by the way he talks; a woman, by the way her hair becomes untidy.

Life is getting harder for politicians. They no longer even can safely praise motherhood—for fear an opponent will spread the rumor they are advocating overpopulation.

Shell dealers suggest 10 ways to cut car repair bills

Your car is probably the second biggest single investment you'll ever make. Here are 10 pointers from Shell that can help you protect that investment. They're easy to follow. And they might well save you a lot of trouble, as well as needless expense.

1. Check your cooling system hose for weak spots. Inspect all of the rubber hoses that interconnect your cooling system. If they are cracked, cut or swollen, they could give way at any time and cause engine temperature to soar. The result: a troublesome breakdown. Less serious, but a potential cause of overheating, is a debris-clogged radiator. Ask your Shell dealer to use his air hose to clear away clutter on the outside of your radiator.

2. Touch up scratches before rust sets in. You can discourage the spread of rust by using touch-up paint on body scratches. Rust also likes to plug drainage holes on the underside of car doors and body panels. Keep those holes open (a screwdriver or any pointed instrument works fine) and you may well prevent a rusted-through door or body section.

3. Avoid 100-foot trips. It's a mean trick to start a cold car, drive it just a few feet, then turn it off. Yet people often park in front of their homes, then drive into the garage later on. This can increase engine wear, dilute your oil with unburned fuel and give sludge more chance to form. If at all possible, drive right into the garage when you arrive home.

4. Look for oil streaks on inner walls of tires. It may take a bit of back-bending, but it's well worth the effort to check the side of your tires you seldom see—the side facing in. If there's any sign of leaking fluid on tire walls, tell your Shell dealer. A leaking brake cylinder or rear axle oil seals could be at fault. Either can lead to extensive repairs if not corrected right away.

5. Obey the cardinal rule of car care. A professional lubrication job is still the best way to keep your car in good health. But it should be done on a regular basis—not "every so often." For safety's sake, Shelllubricate every 1000 miles. If your car has an automatic transmission, your transmission fluid level should be checked regularly. Your Shell serviceman can do this for you during Shelllubrication.

6. Never "gun" your car to warm up your engine. It doesn't help a bit. Matter of fact, it can do more harm than good, even increase engine wear. Many drivers also think it's worthwhile to idle their cars on a cold morning. But, with today's modern engines, it isn't necessary. It just wastes gasoline. Far better to start your engine, wait a few seconds until it's running smoothly—then be on your way, but at moderate speed.

7. Check a terribly neglected little accessory. People seldom give their windshield wipers a second thought—except when it rains. But wipers wear out too. Instead of wiping your windshield, they can smear and scratch it. Wiper blades are easy to replace—but windshields aren't. Ask your Shell dealer to check your blades and wiper arms next time you see him.

8. Get a midwinter anti-freeze check. If you've had to add water to your radiator in the last few months, you may have less anti-freeze protection than you think. Let your Shell dealer check your coolant with a hydrometer—to make sure an extra cold night won't cause trouble. Reminder: If you got a Shellzone anti-freeze guarantee this winter, you're entitled to free refills, if necessary, until April 1, 1962.

9. Don't let front wheels hit the curb. Banging front wheels against the curb is tough on wheel alignment—and tires too. So, approach the curb carefully when you park. This sounds like a small thing, but it can help prevent costly front end problems. Suggestion: look at the tread on your front wheels right now. If they show uneven wear, your front wheel alignment may need attention.

10. Give your car an occasional change of scenery. A steady diet of city driving adds to the combustion deposits inside your engine. This deposit buildup can reduce your car's power and, eventually, may cause trouble. But many of the deposits that come with city driving will fly out the exhaust when you hit the open road. So, take your car for a turnpike drive this weekend. It can be good exercise for it. And a pleasant afternoon for you.

They Walked With Christ

THE THIRD WISE MAN

"And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way."

—Matthew II: 12

Opinions vary as to the national origins of the wise men. The fact that they came from east of Jerusalem seems to point to Persia. Supporting this view is also the fact that Persia was the country where the Magi conducted their schools or centers of occult learning. But men from throughout the East went to Persia to study with those teachers and adepts to be found there.

So the wise men might, indeed, have represented different countries—Assyria, Babylonia, Media, Persia, Arabia.

Bede states that the third wise man, Balthasar, was dark-skinned and bearded. He was, according to this account, an African, probably from Arabia, since the gift he presented to Jesus was myrrh. This highly fragrant substance, which was greatly valued as a perfume, came from a small tree or shrub native to Arabia. (It is interesting to note that myrrh figures in both the birth and the death of the Savior. As the wise man's gift, it was an "oil of gladness," offered in homage to the new-born King. As He suffered upon the cross, He was offered the same substance, mingled with wine to alleviate his pain, but He rejected it.)

On their journey to Bethlehem, the Magi probably travelled a distance of slightly more than 1000 miles, a trip that required anywhere from three to nine months by camel.

They probably followed the great caravan route across the Syrian desert with its scorching winds, to the oasis of Tadmor (Palmyra), and on to Damascus, then southward until they forded the Jordan near Jericho.

After properly interpreting their dreams, however, they returned by some other and probably more circuitous route.

Scripture, unfortunately, does not tell us what became of these spiritually enlightened men of the East in the years that followed.

According to tradition, they were later baptized by the apostle Thomas. In the Cathedral at Cologne are relics said to be the remains of the wise men, which St. Helena discovered in Persia and had brought to Constantinople. They were moved to Milan, Italy in the fifth century and from there transferred to Cologne in 1163.

Half the remaining field for both the NCAA and NIT, the nation's two big post-season college basketball tournaments, will be decided in a couple of key games tonight.

The Texas Tech-Southern Methodist playoff in Fort Worth will determine the Southwest Conference representative in the NCAA, and the winner of the Temple-St. Joseph's match in Philadelphia gets another of the four remaining berths in the 25-team tourney.

The loser in Philadelphia takes one of the two remaining spots in the 12-team NIT. The loser in Fort Worth simply calls it a season.

Each figures to be a tough one. In each case the opponents have season records that almost duplicate each other.

Tech, the defending champion, and SMU tied for the conference lead with 11-3 records. Doc Hayes' SMU Mustangs are 16-6 for the season, and Polk Robinson's Red Raiders from the Panhandle are 17-7. They split in regular season play, Tech taking the first 69-63 and SMU winning the second 68-63, one of eight straight closing triumphs for the Mustangs.

Temple and St. Joe's each is 9-1 in the Mid-Atlantic Conference, with St. Joseph's climbing into a share of the top spot on the strength of a 78-68 triumph over Lafayette Tuesday.

Temple is 17-7 for the season, St. Joseph's 17-8. In a previous meeting, also on the Philadelphia Palestra floor where they'll play tonight, St. Joseph's managed a 53-49 squeaker.

The first of eight NCAA regional small college tourneys opened in Evansville, Ind., Thursday night with Evansville taking North Carolina A&T 97-82 and Southern Illinois blasting Union (Tenn.) 78-56. The winners meet tonight.

The other seven regionals start tonight.

Victories by a couple of major tourney entrants, New York University and St. John's, in a Madison Square Garden doubleheader featured Thursday night's light schedule.

NYU, which will play a first round game in the NCAA against Yankee Conference champion Massachusetts next week, edged Fordham 67-63.

St. John's, which opens play in the NIT next week, got a 32-point performance from 6-foot-10 Leroy Ellis in an 88-64 rout of Manhattan.

In other major activity, Texas whipped Texas Christian 73-61 in the makeup of a previously postponed Southwest Conference game, Oklahoma beat Missouri 63-55 and Boston College closed out with a 76-62 victory over Boston University.

Ed Daugherty Named 'MVP' In City League

Ed Daugherty, the leading scorer in the City Class A Basketball League, was voted the most valuable player in a ballot held Thursday at the Memorial Building by the league's managers and coaches.

Daugherty is a member of the first-round champion Old Dutch team and was the only player from that squad named to the list of 10 All-Stars selected.

Game Decided In Final Seconds

Columbiana's gallant Clipper cage team was halted just six games away from the Class A state basketball title as it fell to a rallying Lakeview squad 48-47 in the opening round of the Canton District Tournament Thursday night before 1,943 fans in Canton's Memorial Fieldhouse.

Coach Rich Berryman's Clippers completely dominated play in the first three periods, and at one time in the third quarter held a 12-point lead (32-20), but the Trumbull County quintet came storming back in the final stanza to pull the contest out in the last seconds.

In as fine a Class A cage game witnessed in the area this season, action was fast and furious throughout, with both teams making few mistakes and displaying razor-sharp performances.

Columbiana, using junior forward Dale Murphy in the high post position and hitting on numerous set shots, moved to a 14-11 lead in the first frame.

In the second period, the Clips employed a full court press at times on defense and concentrated their offense to screen plays out front and peel off plays from Murphy's post position to advance the margin to 27-19 at intermission.

THE LOCAL county quintet slowly down the fast pace with a more deliberate brand of play in the early minutes of the third quarter, with only one point being scored by either team in the first three minutes. Both teams then exchanged point-for-point the rest of the period, with the Clips enjoying a nine-point bulge (37-28) heading into the last eight minutes of play.

With a large Lakeview contingent cheering them on, the winners caught fire immediately in the final frame, and drove to their first lead (40-39) since the early minutes of the first quarter with 4:23 to go in the fray.

A three-point play by 6-3 senior forward Jim Wake put Lakeview out front 43-39 with 3:35 to go.

Columbiana was not out of it yet as Murphy tallied a drive-in layup and senior forward Jerry Cross potted two push shots from 20 feet out while Lakeview was putting only one foul shot through the hoop, to put the Clips in front 45-44.

WITH JUST 38 seconds to go in the tilt, Columbiana called time out, with possession of the ball, to plot its final strategy.

As play began, the Lakeview quintet employed an all-court press and Columbiana's 6-1 senior center Paul Schulz committed a foul on the Bulldogs' senior forward Bob Winters in an attempt to get the ball over the 10-second line.

Winters promptly stepped up to the foul strip and potted both shots to give the lead back to Lakeview 46-45 with 25 seconds remaining.

Columbiana quickly brought the ball down court, a shot by Cross missed and Murphy was called for a foul infraction in the scramble for the ball. Lakeview's 6-3 senior center Pete Hanen coolly sank both charity tosses to up the Bulldogs' margin to 48-45 with 14 seconds remaining.

Coach Berryman and his charges still failed to quit as they called time out to work up plays for two more scoring shots. As the ball was put in play at the mid-court line, Cross dribbled all the way in for a driving layup on the left side to pull the count to 48-47 with seven seconds to go.

WITH THE crowd going wild,

Lakeview managed to get the ball inbounds and up to mid-court as the buzzer sounded.

Hanen, who sparked the winner's rally in the final period with eight points, was high scorer in the contest with 23 markers. Also in double figures for the Bulldogs was senior guard Sonny Pease, with 11 tallies.

The Clippers displayed a balanced scoring attack with three players, Schulz, Cross and senior guard Ken Gallagher, each hitting for 10 points.

Both starting fives played the entire contest as coaches took no chances in the nip-and-tuck battle.

Columbiana hit on 19 of 49 shots from the field for 39.2 per cent, while Lakeview meshed 18 of 47 tries for a 38.3 percentage. Both teams were hot from the foul stripe, with the Clippers drilling through nine of 11 and the Bulldogs 12 of 14.

THE CLIPS took rebounding honors 22 to 21, with Murphy high with eight and Hanen getting seven saves for the winners.

Columbiana's loss ended its season at 17-4, while Lakeview enters the District finals against St. John Cantius Saturday possessing a 22-4 record.

In another one-point decision, between Hudson and Lorain St. Mary's in the tourney opener last night, junior Les Dingledine put in a two-pointer with only 30 seconds left to enable the Hudson team to triumph 66-65.

In remaining Canton District play, Dalton (16-6) will meet Pymatuning (21-1) Friday night, with the winner headed for Regional play, and Hudson (14-8) taking on Badger (19-5) and Lakeview tangling with St. John Cantius (4-15) Saturday night, both winners also advancing to the Regionals.

Galbreath, Strickland Selected

Westminster, Jacksonville Stars Head Little All-America Squad

By TED MEIER
AP Basketball Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Ronnie Galbreath, a ball control artist from Westminster (Pa.) College, and Roger Strickland, of Jacksonville (Fla.) University, hailed as possibly the most talented college player in America, are the spark-plugs of the 1962 basketball Little All-America selected by The Associated Press.

Named on the first team with the 6-foot-0 Ronnie and the 6-5 Roger were 3-2 Bob Mahland of Williams (Mass.), 6-9 Zelmo Beaty of the top-ranked Prairie View (Tex.) Panthers and 6-8 Charles Hardnett of Grambling (La.). Mahland and Hardnett are repeaters from the 1961 Little A-A. All are seniors except Strickland, a junior.

Galbreath, who hails from Wampum, Pa., put Westminster in the national spotlight when the Titans upset Pitt and ranking Duke.

The praise for Strickland, a transfer from Notre Dame, comes from Bill Kastelz, of the Florida Times-Union in Strickland's home town of Jacksonville.

"Strickland, at 6-5 and 215 pounds, is very possibly the most talented college basketball player in America today," Kastelz said.

Strickland is the nation's small college scoring leader while Mahland, of Garden City, N.Y., set a career scoring record at Williams of 1,272 points, breaking a mark that stood for 57 years. Beaty of Cleveland, Tex. and Hardnett, of Atlanta, Ga., the "big boys" of the team, were rated tops.

Picked as a second team, on the basis of votes from more than 100 sportswriters and radio-TV broadcasters, were Marvin Trotman of Elizabeth City (N.C.) Teachers, labeled a great pro prospect; Richie Swartz of Hofstra (N.Y.); Kenny Saylor of Arkansas Tech, Dick Vories of Georgetown (Ky.) and Lanny Johnson of Northeast Louisiana.

Homer Thurman, a freshman at Midland (Neb.), regarded by his followers as the "greatest small college player in the country — bar none," Billy Barnes, who lead Florida A&M to 25 straight victories; Jim Ahrens of Buena Vista (Iowa); Al Thrasher of Wittenberg (Ohio) and Gary Auten of Kentucky Wesleyan were chosen as a third team.

Members of the first three teams each will receive a certificate from The Associated Press.

Shutouts Recorded In City Volleyball

Post Office, Sevakene and Electric Furnace Sales won three games each in City Volleyball League action last night at the Memorial Building.

Post Office won three games over Bayless Gas by forfeit, Sevakene posted wins by 15-8, 15-4 and 15-1 scores over Salem Music Center and Furnace Sales dumped the PA's 15-9, 15-11, 15-9.

Palmer 3 Down In Pensacola Open

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Peter Mazur, a man who never has won a pro golf tournament, was in a rare position today as play entered the second round of the $20,000 Pensacola Open Tournament.

The 39-year-old Tonawanda, N.Y., pro was at the head of the pack by a three-stroke margin after shooting a 31-32-63 in Thursday's opening round.

Mazur started with a bogey on the first hole and wound up with 10 birdies on the par 36-36-72, 6,700-yard Pensacola Country Club course.

He has played all tournaments so far this year and only made the cutoff at Baton Rouge. He finished out of the money there.

His round was a stroke better than the recognized course record of 64 set by Al Geiberger two years ago, but was a stroke over the 62 shot by Bob Rosburg in 1959 when the easier winter rules were in effect.

Bunched in back of Mazur were Arnold Palmer, winner here in 1960; defending champion Tommy Bolt; and Joe Campbell, all at 66.

A stroke farther back were Doug Sanders; Don Fairfield, Pensacola titleholder in 1956; and young Jerry Steelsmith, at 67.

Sixty-one players were under par, six at 68, nine at 69, and 18 at 70.

The field will be cut to the low 60s and ties after today's round.

Only 1 Senior Named To All-MAC Five

Bowling Green, the Mid-American Conference champion, placed two players on the All-Conference basketball team selected today by the seven loop coaches. The team, however, included only one senior.

The lone fourth year man to make the dream team was Miami's LeVern Benson, who was second in the conference scoring race.

Bowling Green, which moves into the NCAA tournament next week, had two unanimous choices on the first team — Nate Thurmond, a 6-foot-10½ junior, and Howard Komives, a 6-foot-1 sophomore from Toledo.

Rounding out the first team were Larry Jones of Toledo, the only other unanimous selection, Michigan, who led the conference in scoring with 305 points.

Runnerup Ohio University led the second team selections with sophomore Jerry Jackson and senior Bill Whaley. Others on the second string were Bob Burgess of Marshall, Harvey Hunt of Kent State and Ray Wolford of Toledo.

Hunt and Burgess also were on the second team last year.

Named honorable mentions were: Bill Street and Bob Bolton, Western Michigan; Mickey Sydenstricker and Dick Wildt, Marshall; Dennis Klug, Kent State; Ralph Lewis, Toledo; Stacy Bunton, Ohio U., and Dave Mack, Miami.

Bankers Romp In City Loop

Bricker's, Tech Also Victorious

First National Bank moved into a tie for first place in the City Class A Basketball League by routing Westville 106-61 in action Thursday night at the Memorial Building.

In other games Brickers dumped Berlin 80-60 and Salem Tech edged Kaiser 58-57.

The win gave the bankers a 6-0 record and a deadlock with Salem Stamping for the loop lead. Westville holds a 1-4 mark.

Burt Patterson put on a one-man scoring exhibition as he ripped the nets with 48 counters for the winners. Ken McLemore was high for Westville with 15.

Bob Hutton poured in 26 points to lead Bricker's to its victory over Berlin. Bricker's jumped to an 18-8 lead at the end of the first period and was never threatened. The score at intermission read 39-25 and 59-41 as the game moved into the final period.

The Salem Tech-Kaiser tilt was a tight game all the way. The score was 15-15 at the quarter post, but Kaiser pulled ahead in the second and led 23-20 at the half. In the third period, however, Tech rallied and the game was even 43-43 going into the final canto.

Lee Chamberlain and Arvin Breniser led Tech's attack with 17 and 14 points, respectively. Paul Frank potted 19 in Kaiser's losing cause.

Action will resume Monday with Stamping challenging Orsburn's, Kaiser battling Berlin and Damascus taking on Salem Tech.

Semo Liquid Fertilizer of Charleston, Mo., tolled into second place in that contingent with a 2762 series while fifth and sixth places were claimed by Rheinschmidt's Floor Covering of Burlington, Iowa, and Truman Opticians of Dayton, Ohio, respectively.

The Burlington team bowled 2714 and the Dayton team 2739. John Bikowski of Truman Opticians rolled a 660, the best series by a booster bowler in the journey.

Liberty Gives Salem Youngstown South

Ohio Cage Field Cut to 88, But Top Teams Hang On

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Only 88 of Ohio's 933 high school basketball teams were still in action today—but most of the highly-touted talent were among the survivors of the district tournaments.

Upsets have been few while 845 quintets have been belted to the sidelines in the lose-and-out tournaments leading up to the March 23-24 state championship contests.

But some of the top-ranked aspirants must get out of the way tonight and Saturday in the finals of the district tournaments. When the smoke clears Saturday night, only 16 of the 500 Class A teams and 16 of the 433 Class AA squads will be around—all qualifiers for next week's regional tournaments.

Mild He Calls Them
Two mild upsets cropped up Thursday night. Youngstown Liberty, last year's Class A finalist which graduated to Class AA and hoped to make it back to the state finals again, was dumped 69-57 by Youngstown South—a team Liberty had beaten 90-68 during the regular campaign. It was Liberty's second loss in 24 games. South is now 17-4.

The other unexpected result was the 48-47 loss by Columbiana to Lakeview in Class A at Canton. The colorful Columbiana Clippers, 1947 state champions, had a 17-3 record to Lakeview's 19-5 going into the game.

Columbus East Falls
Newark's Wildcats, three-time

state champions, continued on the Cinderella trail when they trampled Columbus East's 1951 Class AA winners 62-44. Newark is now 13-10. Gahanna Lincoln, which upset two unbeaten teams—Reynoldsburg and Grove City—trimmed Columbus Linden McKinley 50-34 to move into Saturday's district finals against Newark at Co-

Martins Ferry defeated Zanesville 72-66 in a battle of ex-champions at Martins Ferry. Zanesville won the state title in 1926 and 1955, and Ferry in 1941. The win-

Quakers Get Another Crack at Warriors

Youngstown South's 69-57 upset victory over Liberty last night sends the Warriors into the finals of the Youngstown District tournament Saturday night at 7:45 against the Salem Quakers, with the winner advancing to next week's regionals at Kent.

South already owns a 72-60 victory over Salem this season. The fray tomorrow night will give Coach John Cabas' crew an opportunity to avenge one of the two setbacks suffered by the Quakers.

South's 12-point victory over Liberty was exactly the same margin by which the Warriors tripped Salem. South had been defeated by the Leopards during the regular season by a 90-68 score.

More than 3,100 fans saw South outrun and outshoot the much taller Liberty quintet. As usual in tight games, Coach Merle Rossell stuck with his starting five for the entire game. Big gun for South was 6-1 Roy White who flipped in 26 markers. South's line-some man (pot-hanger) play caused Liberty just about as much trouble as it did Salem earlier in the year.

Tickets for the Salem game Saturday went on sale here today. A sell-out crowd is expected.

ners carry a 19-3 record into Saturday's district finals against Steubenville (17-4).

Cleveland Heights made it 17-4 for the year with a 62-57 win over Cleveland St. Ignatus—and faces the dubious honor of meeting top-ranked Cleveland East Tech, 1958-59 champion, in Saturday's district finals at Bedford. The favored Scarabs have a 20-0 record.

In Class A, Zanesville Rosecrans defeated Lawrence of Washington County 65-53 at New Concord to set up a battle of the unbeaten Saturday night for a regional spot at Athens. Rosecrans has a 22-0 record. Beverly Fort Frye, Saturday's foe, is 23-0 and ranked sixth in the state.

New Lebanon Dixie, coached by canny Columbus Hines, nipped Arcanum's 1956 Class A state champs 67-54 at Dayton. Each team went into the fray with a 21-1 record. Dixie meets Westmont (17-6) Saturday for a Troy Regional spot.

Classy Games Billed Tonight
Some classy games are on tap tonight. Among them are: Sixth-ranked Dayton Roosevelt (19-3) vs. seventh-ranked Dayton Chaminade (19-1) at Dayton for a Cincinnati Class AA Regional berth; second-ranked Hamilton Taft (21-0) vs. Hamilton Garfield Mansfield St. Peter (23-0) vs. Nor-(12-6) at Middletown; fourth-ranked Toledo Central Catholic (20-1) vs. Toledo Libbey (10-10) at Toledo; and 10th-ranked Marietta (20-1) vs. Hillsboro (16-4) at Athens.

Class A features tonight are: top-rated and defending champion Aversville (23-0) vs. Hamler (21-3) at Defiance; second-ranked Alger (23-0) vs. seventh-ranked Fostoria St. Wendelin (19-2) at Tiffin; and 10th-ranked Carlisle (20-2) vs. Russellville (23-1) at Cincinnati.

Leetonia Boosters Banquet To Be Held Saturday Night

LEETONIA — The third annual All-Star banquet sponsored by the Leetonia-Washingtonville Athletic Boosters Club will be held Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

A half-hour "friendship session" is scheduled at 6 when punch will be served.

Mop-Up

New Jersey and Delaware, $50 million each; Virginia, $30 million; New York, $25 million; North Carolina, $3 to $5 million; and Maryland "many millions."

Pestilence and starvation menaced survivors, with practically all food supplies and sewage facilities wiped out. Acceptable drinking water constituted a major problem in many areas.

In North Carolina, Gov. Terry Sanford flew over the distressed area.

"I thought it was going to be bad, but it is much worse than I imagined," he said.

H. Mat Adams, New Jersey conservation commissioner, said the damage in his state was worse than anything in a generation.

State emergencies have been declared by Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey and Gov. Elbert N. Carvel of Delaware.

Carvel estimated that between 1,000 and 3,000 homes have been partially or totally destroyed and that another 7,000 suffered water damage. No damage figure has been set pending a survey.

In Maryland, Gov. J. Millard Tawes said after an inspection this is the worst disaster in the history of Maryland.

In the resort of Ocean City, Md., 90 per cent of the boardwalk is gone and a number of homes and hotels literally washed away.

Unseasonably high tides in Florida Thursday hit a 130-mile stretch from Fort Pierce to Bay Biscayne. Waves estimated at 25 feet greatly damaged resorts, homes and business districts.

The Palm Beach and Miami Beach areas suffered some damage.

Hardest hit in New York were Long Island, Coney Island in Brooklyn, Staten Island and Fire Island.

Already at many of the disaster scenes were insurance adjusters for the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The board noted that damage caused by wind was covered by fire and extended coverage policies and homeowners' policies.

But damage caused by waves, high tidal water and flooding is not covered, the board said, adding that water damage to buildings is covered only when it results from the wind.

Coverage for water damage is provided in comprehensive auto insurance policies and in certain marine policies for bridges, piers and wharves, the board said.

A slow-moving storm rolling across the Midwest and heading eastward dumped up to a foot of snow in Iowa and Nebraska. Falls were heavy in many parts of the upper and middle Mississippi Valley and the western Great Lakes region.

The snow was moderately heavy southward into Asheville, N.C., with snow also reported in Charlotte and Raleigh, N.C. There was snow and a mixture of snow and rain in the southern Appalachians while the precipitation was mostly rain from the western Ohio Valley southward through Tennessee into Mississippi and Alabama.

Snow mixed with rain was expected to move across the Ohio Valley into central New York and central Pennsylvania.

In the West, snow flurries fell in scattered sections of western Montana and northern Idaho and rain mixed with snow hit western Washington, western Oregon and extreme northwestern California.

Rain fell in the central Rockies and showers sprinkled the extreme southern Plateau region. Heavy snow warnings were posted for Montana.

Temperatures were on the chilly side in most of the wet belts with readings near normal levels in other areas.

High schools participating in the event are Salem, West Branch, Leetonia, Columbiana, Fairfield, Waterford, North Lima, Springfield, Boardman and Fitch.

Mrs. Urton Anderson is physical education instructor at the Greenford school. Student chairmen for the day of sport are Mary Lou Cook and Margie Hiner.

Three Accidents Probed by Patrol

No injuries and only moderate damage was reported in three accidents on district highways Thursday.

According to the State Highway Patrol, Paul Sweddon, 20, of Greenford pulled out of a side road onto Alt. Rt. 14, three miles east of Salem at 7:40 a.m. and struck a truck driven east by George W. Pohl, 29, of Alliance.

Sweddon was arrested for failure to yield the right of way.

Leonard R. Stanonik, 36, of Rt. 2, New Waterford, driving a truck east on Rt. 30, one and a half miles south of Rt. 7, at 2:30 p.m., ran off the right side of the road and struck a guard rail.

George Thompson, 42, of 232 Vine St., Columbiana was cited for driving while intoxicated after he drove his car off the right side of County Road 416, one half mile south of Washingtonville, at 10:45 p.m. According to the patrol he struck a sign and rolled over, causing considerable damage to his vehicle.

Barlauer and Rodriguez Echavarría slipped out of the country Wednesday night.

Barlauer told newsmen in San Juan he was glad to get out of the Dominican Republic at the present time but hoped to return to politics at home in a year or two.

Dominican Mobs Go on Rampage

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Streets in the Dominican capital were cleared Thursday night by a dusk-to-dawn curfew after mobs went on a rampage because the government let ex-President Joaquin Balaguer and Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarría leave the country.

Some of the mob fury was directed at the United States with charges that the State Department was behind the leniency. But a Dominican government source said their presence here represented a threat to the tranquility of the nation.

Balaguer, 55, and Rodriguez Echavarría, 37, who served under him as armed forces chief, were secretly flown to Puerto Rico. Angry crowds formed when their getaway became known. The demonstrators shouted that the two men linked with the old Trujillo dictatorship should have been brought to trial.

Gangs roamed the streets, setting fire to automobiles and wrecking other property. They massed in front of the U.S. Consulate, burned two consulate cars and damaged two others.

Armed police patrols rushed out to check the demonstrations and most business places closed. Schoolchildren were sent home early.

Balaguer and Rodriguez Echavarría slipped out of the country Wednesday night.

Balaguer told newsmen in San Juan he was glad to get out of the Dominican Republic at the present time but hoped to return to politics at home in a year or two.

Topics of Interest To Farmers; Notes About Meetings

80 Tour Dairy Barns

Eighty dairy farmers made a tour of three dairy barns Thursday and heard discussion of high points by Ken Battles, agricultural engineer from Ohio State University.

Don Smith of Alliance and Leo Brown of Youngstown, both of the Ohio Edison Co., participated in the discussions.

The tourists visited the Campbell Bros. farm south of Alliance, the Clarence Motts farm east of Homeworth and the Glenn Shreve farm east of Westville.

House Bill

lican, whose re-election was in doubt under a redistricting law already passed in Pennsylvania.

It was to help Fenton that Halleck rallied GOP support for the bill. The purpose of the amendment was to make certain that Fenton would be taken care of.

Other Pennsylvanians, however, feared that the legislature might fail to enact a new redistricting law and force them to run on a statewide race. Generally it is considered more hazardous politically to campaign statewide instead of in a familiar district. Also, it is more expensive.

When the Pennsylvanians couldn't agree, McCormack pulled the props from under the bill. He told newsmen there had been an understanding that the governor of Pennsylvania, Democrat David Lawrence, would call a special legislative session. Presumably, McCormack opposed enforcement of a gentlemen's agreement by act of Congress.

The amendment, adopted 128 to 54, also would have required a special session of the Missouri legislature to map out new districts. The state already has redistricted on the assumption it would lose one seat in the House.

Massachusetts has not yet redistricted.

Without the amendment, the extra seat allotted to each of the three states would have been filled in a statewide election unless new districts were carved out.

The House beat efforts to further increase its size to take care of some of the other 13 states losing seats because of reapportionment based on the 1960 census.

Until the Pennsylvania disagreement developed, the House appeared in a mood to pass the bill according to well-laid plans.

These plans developed several months ago when Democratic and Republican leaders reached agreement on a three-seat increase to restore losses for the three states involved.

Reluctance of the House Rules Committee to give advance approval of procedure that would have barred amendments slowed down the bill's progress. Backers believed they could make a good case for a three-seat boost because the two new states, Hawaii and Alaska, are entitled to that many. But they wanted no run-away to take care of all the losers.

The rules committee gave its clearance early this week but did not bar amendments. Leaders counted noses Wednesday and figured they had close to 300 votes, so they called for a quick showdown.

Apparently they didn't touch all bases by clearing the Walter amendment.

The result, a bill which seemed certain of passage at 3 p.m. Thursday was dead two hours later, much to just about everyone's surprise.

Paul Voytko, 25, of Alliance, was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance after his car collided with a truck on W. State St., near the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing, at 9:56 a.m. today.

German Coal Mine Blast Fatal to 28

HEESSEN, Germany (AP)—A coal mine explosion touched off by blasting killed 30 miners today by blasting killed 28 miners today Valley town, mine officials reported.

Two other men are missing. The explosion in the state-owned Sachsen Mine occurred just half an hour before the morning shift of 2,200 was due at work. A spokesman said the casualty toll was relatively low because only skeleton night crews were working.

The explosion occurred just 30 days after a fire-damp blast in the Luisenthal Mine in the Saarland to the south took 299 lives.

The mine spokesman said all miners appeared to be accounted for and the death toll was not expected to rise unless some of the injured men did not survive.

He said the explosion occurred in a horizontal tunnel connecting various mining locations more than 3,000 feet underground. He reported the blast was apparently caused when blasting ignited a pool of methane gas or fire-damp which had collected in the tunnel.

Organization To Mark Anniversary

Girl Scout Program Changed,
But Purpose Remains Same

NEW YORK (AP)—Fifty years ago the early Girl Scouts were admonished to be womanly. "None of us likes women who ape men" is a rewarding line in the first handbook.

Eighteen and a half million Girl Scouts later the sentiment, if not the sentence, is substantially the same. Hardy hikers and campers though they are, the Girl Scouts who will celebrate the organization's 50th birthday next week are as feminine as teenagers can be.

Back when Juliette Low started the first troop in Savannah, Ga., on March 12, 1912, being womanly included mastery of the graceful art of swooning. But it wasn't all basket-weaving, baby-minding and good deeds for the pioneer scouts. They were expected to know how to shoot in self defense, milk a cow, handle importunate men.

That first 1913 handbook, called "How Girls Can Help Their Country," talked to its tender readers like a Dutch uncle, while teaching them such practical skills as how to secure a burglar with eight inches of cord, check a runaway horse and conduct themselves romantically.

It inveighed against smoking and drinking. It suggested that the "reading of novels unfits one's mind for doing good to others." And in an italicized aside to instructors, it advised: "Keep on a smile, but never let it be a smile of contempt. 'Hate nothing but sin'."

Since those days needs have changed. The rifle marksmanship badge has been dropped, while cow-milking proficiency has become specialized—in the dairying badge, one of 116 the girls can earn now.

From that first dozen Savannah girls membership for girls through 17 has grown to today's 3½ million, including 760,000 adults, 40,000 of them men.

Over the years the uniform has undergone transformation—from the first dark blue middie through formidable shapes in khaki to the current couture-designed green dress.

But although people, program and apparel have changed, the Girl Scout's purpose has remained constant: To do her duty to God and country, to help other people, to lead a clean, kind, honest life.

Goodman To Visit
Russia Under
Exchange Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union, where kings and jazz officially are decadent, soon will have both in a visit by Benny Goodman, "The king of swing." A two-year cultural exchange agreement signed Thursday by American and Soviet officials will boost by 10 to 15 per cent the number of exchange visits of teachers, technicians, artists, officials, athletes and others between the two countries. An estimated 2,000 exchanges a year were carried out under the 1960-1 agreement.

This will be the first time a Goodman jazz group has played in the Soviet Union.

Communist negotiators first balked at including the clarinetist in the exchange. Red officialdom frowns on jazz as a demented bourgeois product.

But, U.S. negotiators prevailed after pointing out that Goodman has performed with classical music groups in this country and will be able to do the same in the Soviet Union as well as play jazz.

The New York City Ballet and the Robert Shaw Choral are also slated to tour the Soviet Union this year, while the Soviet Union is sending to the United States the Bolshoi Theater Ballet, the Leningrad Philharmonia Symphony Orchestra and the Ukrainian Dance Ensemble.

Both sides hailed the expanded agreement as a step forward in U.S.-Soviet relations, otherwise bogged down in cold war disputes. The negotiations had been under way at the State Department since January.

CRITICIZES REPORT

CLEVELAND (AP)—The grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers criticized the majority report of the Presidential Railroad Commission Thursday. Roy E. Davidson told 100 Brotherhood chairmen the report brought on "the worst labor-management relations this Brotherhood has faced in its nearly 100 years of existence."

The commission, among other things, recommended a gradual elimination of 45,000 firemen on diesel locomotives in freight and yard service over a 10-year period.

But Much of Nation Benefits

Winter's Blasts Cause Heavy
Citrus Crop Losses In Texas

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—This winter had the worst of everything, snow-laden storms, floods and numbing cold, but it also brought joy to many Western farmers. Only in Texas, apparently, did the winter assault cause extensive losses—$19 million in citrus crops alone.

In Southern California, torrential rains brought floods but also broke a chronic drought. "We're in beautiful shape for the first time in many years," said the Los Angeles County agriculture commissioner, Kenneth L. Woolf. The grain states exulted about the heavy snow cover that kept soil from blowing and put moisture into the ground the best way—through a slow, deep-reaching trickle.

But the cold did lasting damage to fruit trees in Texas. An unofficial guess is that 15 per cent were killed when a late February freeze hit the budding trees.

The citrus crop of Texas, estimated at more than 10 million boxes, was nearly a total loss. In two days of sub-freezing temperatures the state's commercial peach and plum crop worth $5 million was practically wiped out.

Citrus crop losses in California and Arizona were less severe.

The Texas loss proved a boom to Florida. Growers in Florida lost 4½ to 8 million boxes of oranges and 1-2 million boxes of grapefruit in a December freeze. But the major loss was to very young trees which didn't affect this year's harvest. The crop forecast has been cut only from a record 99 million box orange crop to a healthy 96 million.

In Wyoming, heavy snowfall piled up a storehouse of dollars in the form of moisture in the mountain snow sheds. Agriculture officials fear the weather hurt livestock herds, but say field crop prospects are good.

"The situation appears surprisingly good," said the U.S. Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Montana. "The flooding caused no extensive damage but it was generally confined to areas where no crops were out."

Reports from Oklahoma, New Mexico and Colorado were similarly negative on damage.

Colorado expects a wheat crop of about 54 million bushels this year, compared to 56 million in 1961.

TO ABANDON NIKE SITES
CLEVELAND (AP)—The Army has announced that two anti-aircraft missile sites in Warrensville heights and Parma will cease being used for potential missile launchings.

Col. E. A. Wilson, commander of Nike missile installations in the area, said the 100 National Guardsmen will be assigned to one of three Nike-Hercules units in the Cleveland area currently being operated by regular Army personnel. He said he expected the transfer to take from six to eight months.
